Letter from Ted Russell

H. M. S. Grangemouth,
c/o G. P. O., London, England,
April 4th, 1916.

Dear Mother,—I now am pleased to write you in answer to your welcome letter, which I received the 3rd of April. I was glad to hear that you and all the family were well. I am well at present and enjoying good health.

Well, mother, Alex Mercer left the 3rd of April. He was gone before I got your letter. He left in the morning and I got your letter in the evening and a letter from Maggie and George. I miss Alex very much, as we have been together ever since we left home. He will tell you all about me when he gets home and how he and I enjoyed ourselves together.

Joe Norman, Mark Norman and Joe Snow is on the H. M. S. York. We and they go to sea together and go into harbor together, so you see I get chums from home to go ashore with me. You said you were sorry for me joining on for the end of the war. Well, mother, I thought it was a cowardly thing for me to do to come home when my year was up and the war on at the present time. I thought it my duty to join on to do my best to keep you in safety and to keep peace and happiness in that small colony of ours.

England is determined to gain this war or she will fight till the last man is on the field. Her Navy is ruling the sea to-day. Britannia says while she has a ship and a boy in Blue to man them it is just as well for the Kaiser and the German fleet to be where they were before the War started.

Well, mother, I must tell you not to be worrying and thinking about me for I am all right and expecting to see you and all the family again if I am spared to see this War over. I know it will be a great time for us and all the people at home the day of our return.

You said you had a very frosty winter home. We haven't seen any thing frost past over here this winter. Like summer all the winter months through. Give my love to all friends around. I must now close, wishing you and all the family good health until we meet again. I remain, your loving son,
TED.

Writes to His Father

H. M. S. Excellent
Whale Island,
Portsmouth, England.

July 16, 1916.

Dear Father,—Just a few lines to let you know that I am enjoying good health, and trusting that you and all the family are well.

I have not received a letter from you for a long time. I received one while I was in Gibraltar, and that is the only one I have had from you since I left home. I suppose you have been so busy attending to the gardens and your other duties that you could not take time to write me.

I have not much news to tell you. I am here at Whale Island going through training for seaman gunner. I will be passing out in a week's time. They tell us we will be put on board armed merchantmen.

When I go I am expecting to be made Leading Seaman, and I also expect that I will have charge of the gun.

There are quite a number of Newfoundland boys here at Whale Island. Herbert Russell was here, but he went to London about three weeks ago to join a ship. He and I had a fine time going around together.

Well, father, I must tell you that I had no intention of leaving the ship that I was on at Gibraltar. Just after Alex left five men came to relieve me and four other men who were on the Grangemonth. The Flag Captain told us we had to go home as our twelve months were finished.

When I got in England I did not feel like going home, so I signed on for the duration of the war.

I like the navy all right. It is a service that can build up and put a new heart and soul in any man. I feel that it has made a man of me, and I am trying every day to do the best I can to help keep the good old Union Jack at the masthead.

With love and kind regards to all the family, I remain

Your loving son

TED.
