Out of service, George is found in the 1921 general Newfoundland census married and living in Coley's Point. George and his wife Victoria have five (5) children.

By 1935, George, now 54 and Victoria 47 have a family of eight (8) children.

The 1945 census of Newfoundland shows George (62) and Victoria (57) still living in Coley's Point with five (5) children at home with them.

George passed away in May 1957 and Victoria in September 1961. They are buried in the Salvation Army Cemetery at Coley's Point.

While looking through some old artifacts at the Branch (Branch 32 of the Royal Canadian Legion, Bay Roberts), this item came to light and it makes a unique addition to the biography for George, WW I Veteran. It is provided as an accurate representation of what these sailors experienced.
